CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, July 18.-Large exports of wheat at the seaboard did not avail against the weight attached to new wheat against the weight attached to new wheat arrivals at primary points to-day. At the close New York had sent reports of 20 loads sold and Baltimore 52—a total of about 60,000 bushels. But for this, prices might probably have suffered more. As it was, there was very little strength, even at the lowest point. Cash wheat was in good demand, and prices were ite under yesterday. September wheat opened at 554.c. and 574.c., ranged between 574 and 564.c., a net closed at 564.c.—a net loss of ite. for the day.

Corn—It was not until the Washington Weather Bureau indications were received that there were any signs of a break in corn. The early hours were marked by a firm tone and advancing prices, but that there were any signs of a break is corn. The early hours were marked by a firm tone and advancing prices, but when it was learned that there was a prospect for the breaking of the drought in some portions of the corn belt, more selling orders appeared, and values fell away, recovering slightly before the close September corn opened at from 43 to 33 kc.; sold between 33 kg and 18 c., and closed at 43 kg.—kg/kg, higher than yesterday.
